About ABILITY

ABILITY works to save lives by facilitating information exchange and knowledge-sharing among every participant within the healthcare spectrum – hospitals, physician practices, home care providers, DMEs, and private and government payers – as well as the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS). In use for more than a decade in more than 3,000 hospitals across the country, ABILITY’s network supports healthcare decision makers in their quest to promote care coordination and collaboration, reduce record fragmentation, participate in new and emerging care models, and access the Direct Project network and state and community-based Health Information Exchanges (HIEs). MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. – October 3, 2011 – ABILITY Network Inc™, the nation’s largest and most secure web-based health network, announced today that president, John Feikema has launched a new industry blog on pertinent, high-tech healthcare issues: Looking Around the Corner. –“Looking for how we can continue to improve healthcare; looking for how we can help our customers and non-customers bend the healthcare cost curve; looking for new services that we can bring to market (whether we build them or whether we partner with other great companies.) At the end of the day, we are trying to continue to make an impact in the market as we have for the past 11 years,” –blog excerpt.

“For years, John’s vision and voice have been instrumental in elevating the healthcare conversation, and I’m thrilled to have him take on this role,” said Mark Briggs, CEO of ABILITY Network Inc. The blog’s purpose is to help advance the effectiveness of healthcare while decreasing its costs.
